

Dear year 6,

I can tell you that its ok to be a bit nervous on your first couple of weeks. For me on my first week I still felt it was my induction day because it is so different to primary school. The biggest difference for me is that in primary school I only had one teacher for all my subjects however in Icknield you have one teacher for each subject.

If you are a bit nervous, it is good to tell a friend what you are feeling because I am sure they feel the same way. I came from Watlington Primary which is right next door to Icknield. I am very lucky because my primary school is so close most of my friends came here. But I also made many new friends that are some of my best friends now! When I came, I was really looking forward to some subjects like: Drama, Food and nutrition, art and music because we rarely did those subjects in primary. The teachers are very kind in Icknield so if you have a question or get lost there is always someone to help.
